OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

THE NEWS.

Our despatches do not seem to throw much light upon the real situation of things in Virginia. It is stated that Lee massed his troops on Wednesday, and made a most desperate attempt to capture supplies, but was repulsed with heavy loss to us. The telegraph kindly salves up the wound which it fears the news will make by stating, "the enemy's loss is much greater than ours."

Later despatches from the army of the Potomac state that another attack was planned on the enemy's right, but was for some reason abandoned. Thursday morning Hancock and Burnside made an advance upon their works, dislodging them, and driving them behind an abatis which it was not deemed prudent to charge upon.

At present Grant seems to be maneuvering to get Lee to come out and take a fair stand up fight, while Lee is just as intent upon forcing Grant to attack him in his entrenched position.

As yet we have seen no detailed account of Sigel's defeat. About all we know is that on Sunday he fought the forces of Echoes and Imboden, under Breckinridge, at New Market; that the enemy's forces were superior in number, and that he gradually withdrew from the battle field, and recrossed the Shenandoah, having lost five pieces of artillery, and about 600 killed and wounded, and 50 prisoners; but bringing off all of his trains and all the wounded that could be transported from the battle field. He states that in consequence of the long line and trains that had to be guarded, he could not bring more than six regiments in the fight, besides artillery and cavalry; and that the enemy had about 7,000 infantry, besides other arms; and that his retrograde movement to Strasburg was effected in perfect order, without any loss of material or men.

A Philadelphia paper has a dispatch as follows: "It is reported that advices from the Army of the Potomac up to nine o'clock on Thursday, have been received, and show that the Second Corps advanced, successfully turning the enemy's flank, capturing 15 guns and many prisoners. It is rumored that Lee is falling back slowly, and has been forced to evacuate his works. If this be true his total overthrow will soon be consummated." We place no reliance whatever upon the Philadelphia rumors.

Gen. Pope has been ordered to Washington with 6,000 of his troops. As neither McClellan nor Fitz John Porter have commands there now, the hero of Island No. 10 may be allowed to accomplish something.

Sheridan has started upon another raid around Richmond, and Kautz is moving to destroy the great iron bridge over the Stanton River.

The office of the World and Journal of Commerce are still closed by order of the Federal authorities for having published a bogus proclamation of the President, calling for more men.

The news from Sherman is still favorable. On Thursday the two armies confronted each other in plain sight east of Kingston.

The La Crosse Democrat intimates that a dollar in greenbacks in only worth about half a dollar in gold. If the Democrat can find out the amount of greenbacks issued it can either out something near what the attempt of the southern wing of its party to overthrow the government, has cost us financially. But by no human arithmetic can it estimate the loss of our people in valuable lives. None but the infinite mathematician who reads all hearts and knows all sorrows can truly comprehend our real losses.

No, No; Mr. Democrat, this is a democratic, not an abolition war.

VERMONT has filled her quota, and an excess of 1,700 men. Nevertheless the Governor of the State has requested that the draft should be made in the sub-districts which are yet delinquent, and it has been so ordered.

Just what Governor Lewis should order in the delinquent districts of Wisconsin.

COL. BRAGG KILLED.—The Mastor Star has information that Col. E. S. Bragg, of the immortal sixth regiment is killed. It also says that Lieut. Col. Dawes and Capt. Kellogg of the same regiment are killed.

THE REBEL GENERAL STUART.—The Richmond papers notice the death of Major-General James E. B. Stuart, which doubtless occurred in a fight with General Sheridan's cavalry. He was born in Patrick County, Va., about 1835, and consequently was hardly thirty years of age. He graduated at West Point in 1854, and rose to the rank of first lieutenant of cavalry in December, 1855. In the summer of 1857 he distinguished himself, and was severely wounded, in a fight with the Cheyenne Indians. In 1860 he was promoted to a captaincy, and on the 14th of May 1861, resigned his commission in the United States service. He immediately entered that of the Rebellion, and commanded a regiment of cavalry at the first battle of Bull Run. He was conspicuous at the battle of Lewinsville, Sept. 13 1861. He was promoted to a brigadier-general, and soon after to major-general, in the latter part of 1861; made a bold dash into McClellan's lines on the Pamunkey, June 13th, 1862, captured Pope's correspondence and private property on the 22d of August following, made his famous raid into Maryland and Pennsylvania in the next October; and, in fact, played an important part in all the campaigns on the Potomac. He was a cavalry officer of brilliant merit, and his loss will be irreparable to the rebels. He leaves a widow, the daughter of Gen. Philip St. George Cook, U. S. A.

THE MADISON JOURNAL speaks in highly complimentary terms of Captain Lockwood's company from this city. Captain Hale, of Beloit, has 90 men already, and Captain Twining, of Milton, has about the same number, making 250 in all who have gone to the war from the Milton Academy.

No literary institutions in the land have done any better according to their numbers than the Milton Academy and Beloit College.

It is said Captain Lockwood's company will probably join Col. Ray's regiment.

THE NEWS.

Our despatches do not seem to throw much light upon the real situation of things in Virginia. It is stated that Lee massed his troops on Wednesday, and made a most desperate attempt to capture supplies, but was repulsed with heavy loss to us. The telegraph kindly salves up the wound which it fears the news will make by stating, "the enemy's loss is much greater than ours."

Later despatches from the army of the Potomac state that another attack was planned on the enemy's right, but was for some reason abandoned. Thursday morning Hancock and Burnside made an advance upon their works, dislodging them, and driving them behind an abatis which it was not deemed prudent to charge upon.

At present Grant seems to be maneuvering to get Lee to come out and take a fair stand up fight, while Lee is just as intent upon forcing Grant to attack him in his entrenched position.

As yet we have seen no detailed account of Sigel's defeat. About all we know is that on Sunday he fought the forces of Eads and Imboden under Brockinridge, at New Market; that the enemy's forces were superior in number, and that he gradually withdrew from the battle field, and recrossed the Shenandoah, having lost five pieces of artillery, and about 800 killed and wounded, and 50 prisoners; but bringing off all of his trains and all the wounded that could be transported from the battle field. He states that in consequence of the long line and trains that had to be guarded, he could not bring more than six regiments in the fight, besides artillery and cavalry; and that the enemy had about 7,000 infantry, besides other arms; and that his retrograde movement to Strasburg was effected in perfect order, without any loss of material or men.

A Philadelphia paper has a dispatch as follows: "It is reported that advices from the Army of the Potomac up to nine o'clock on Thursday, have been received, and show that the Second Corps advanced, successfully turning the enemy's flank, capturing 15 guns and many prisoners. A rumor is spreading that Lee is falling back slowly, and has been forced to evacuate his works. If this be true his total overthrow will soon be consummated." We place no reliance whatever upon the Philadelphia rumors.

Gen. Pope has been ordered to Washington with 6,000 of his troops. As neither McClellan nor Fitz John Porter have commands there now, the hero of Island No. 10 may be allowed to accomplish something.

Sheridan has started upon another raid around Richmond, and Kautz is moving to destroy the great iron bridge over the Stanton River.

The office of the World and Journal of Commerce are still closed by order of the Federal authorities for having published a bogus proclamation of the President, calling for no men.

The news from Sherman is still favorable. On Thursday the two armies confronted each other in plain sight east of Kingston.

If the Democrat can find out the amount of greenbacks issued it can cipher out something near what the attempt of the southern wing of its party to overthrow the government, has cost us financially. But by no human arithmetic can it estimate the loss of our people in valuable lives. None but the infinite mathematician who reads all hearts and knows all sorrows can truly comprehend our real losses.

No, no; Mr. Democrat, this is a democratic, not an abolition war.

VERMONT has filled her quota, and an excess of 1,500 men. Nevertheless the Governor of the State has requested that the draft should be made in the sub-districts which are yet delinquent, and it has been so ordered.

Just what Governor Lewis should order in the delinquent districts of Wisconsin.

COL. BRAGG KILLED.—The Master Star has information that Col. E. S. Bragg, of the immortal sixth regiment is killed. It also says that Lieut. Col. Dawes and Capt. Kellogg of the same regiment are killed.

GRAND OPENING OF SUMMER GOODS.

Mrs. Beale, at her spacious store on Milwaukee street, will open for inspection and sale to-morrow an extensive assortment of millinery goods. Go and take a look at them.

COURT COUN.—The case of Jacob Strang against the Beloit & Madison R. R. Co., for law damages occupied yesterday afternoon. The jury were allowed to retire and seal their verdict. They returned their verdict this morning in favor of plaintiff for $270.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—We are informed that Mr. William Viney, an old resident of the town of Porter, in this county, was accidentally killed in that town yesterday, by a wagon heavily loaded passing over his head. The full particulars we have not learned.

DWELLING PARTIALLY BURNED.—We

learn that an ell part of the house of Mr. Wm. Knowles a few miles out of this city, in the town of Harmony, was destroyed by fire this morning. Mr. Knowles and wife were in this city at the time the information reached them of the disaster.

WOUNDED.—Wm. Wiggins, a member of Co. E. 5th regiment, was wounded in the right leg above the knee, during the battle of the 13th. His injuries were of so serious a nature as to render amputation necessary. He is now in Washington and is doing as well as could be expected.

GOOD BYE CHARLEY.—Mr. Charles Holt, who for the last eighteen years has been connected with the press of this city, and for a long time, one of the editors and proprietors of this paper, left with his family to-day for Quincy, Illinois, whither he has gone to become one of the editors and owners of the Whig & Republican.

We do not pretend to say what sort of a "Sucker" Charley will make, but we know, he was a first rate "Badger" and we bespeak for him and his at-the-hands of those into whose camp he has been pitched, that kindness, cordiality and good-fellowship that is due to a good editor, a thorough Republican, and an affable and kind-hearted man.

A LETTER FROM THE 5TH.—Mrs. Sally A. Sillwell of this city received a letter from her son in the 5th regiment, dated Spotsylvania Court House, May 15th, from which we are permitted to make the following extract. It is an indication, not only of the cheerful spirit of the writer, but of the faith and confidence of the army generally. Such words from the heroic boys who are in the field facing the enemy and death, inspire us with hope and confidence in the ultimate success of the campaign which is so sorely trying the tempe of our troops.

"We have been fighting eight days in all, driving the rebels steadily all the time until we reached here. It has taken us three days to get them out of this; but we whipped them last night. Our regiment lost 250 men in the fight. Wait was mortally wounded, and the drum major shot through the hip. The army has had a tough time, but all is well. We are using up the rebel army, and I think, as I said before, that this campaign will end with the war."

HOW THEY RALLY ROUND THE FLAG IN ROCK COUNTY.—We are told on the best authority that "comparisons are odious," but in war times one must be pardoned for bragging a little over the gallant conduct of a country that faces the music on all occasions so promptly as has "old Rock." Not only has the quota of this county, in the aggregate, been filled to overflowing upon all previous calls, but she has just turned out 300 more one hundred day men for the special service. We are coming, Father Abraham, about three hundred more.

From the county that has sent you any number heretofore.

From the prairies and the valleys, by the river clear and bright.

There are others who are willing yet to mingle in the fight.

Captain Hale, of Beloit, has 90 men already, and Captain Twining, of Milton, has about the same number, making 250 in all who have gone to the war from the Milton Academy. No literary institutions in the land have done any better according to their numbers than the Milton Academy and Beloit College.

It is said Captain Lockwood's company will probably join Col. Ray's regiment.

LETTER FROM WASHINGTON.

Washington Safe—Troops all sent to the Front—Grant's Army as Large as Before the Recent Battles—Our Wounded in Washington—Spirit of our Troops—The Feeling in the City.

WASHINGTON, May 14 1864.

In times like these, when the pulse of the Nation's heart, are felt all over the civilized world, when the clash of arms, the roar of cannon, and the groans of wounded, and dying heroes, are almost heard across the continent, to the remotest part of the nation, through the thousand and one avenues of thought, it seems almost idle to attempt to interest the readers of a public journal, through the old mail system. Therefore, the few lines I write at this time, will contain as little as possible of the important news which finds its way over the wires. As usual, during an active campaign of the Army of the Potomac, much excitement exists at the capital, but it is not of that character which has heretofore existed. Instead of fear and apprehension, increased from time to time by innumerable false rumors of our reverses, and the probabilities of Lee's victorious advance upon Washington, unbounded, and universal confidence is reposed in the ability of Grant to annihilate his opponent, and succeed in his present undertaking. "Washington is safe." So I infer, as the War Department has seen fit to remove to the front almost every soldier from the city. The forts and fortifications are left alone and unmanned. Everything and everybody that can contribute to Grant's aid, has been forwarded to him. Troops are constantly being pushed to the front. Our losses in the recent battles have been immense, especially in wounded. But their places in the ranks have been more than supplied by fresh arrivals. Notwithstanding the great loss, the army of the Potomac is to-day, more numerous and in a better condition for the campaign than it was ten days ago. Washington is full of hospitals and the hospitals are full of men. Thousands upon thousands of our wounded heroes are arriving here daily, and distributed among the various hospitals. They are no longer receiving the best care and attention which our government is able to bestow, but the Sanitary Commission, the soldiers angel of mercy, is doing almost superhuman things for their comfort and aid. The bread so nobly and generously cast upon the waters at the various fairs the past winter, by kind friends at home, is now returning to bless and comfort the bleeding braves, who have offered their lives upon our country's altar. They bear their suffering heroically, and almost without an exception, they regret their inability to participate in the glorious work now going on, and are impatient to rejoin their comrades.

The army of the Potomac are ambitious to redeem themselves. In conversation with several veterans who have participated in all the battles, since Bull Run, I learn that in every engagement, heretofore, they fought with one eye to the front, and the other to the rear, doubting the ability of the commanding officer to guard against a flank movement of the enemy. Now it is different. They have implicit confidence in the cool headed, argus eyed Grant, and when he orders, they have unbounded confidence that to succeed, they have only to obey, that while they take care of the front, their commander will guard the flank and rear. With such an army, such a commander, and in such a cause, success is only a question of time.

The Secesh element is shop fallen.

The long faces of certain citizens and members of Congress, during these times of triumph and victory, show plainly where their sympathies are.

Yesterday upon the reception in the House of Representatives of the dispatches from Mr. Dana, of the great triumph of Hancock and Burnside, while it was impossible for the union members to suppress their overflowing joy, copperheads sat in sullen gloom, without expressing an emotion of satisfaction at the news. More anon.

NEO FAITH.—The Springfield News quotes from a private letter an amusing dialogue between an "aristocratic female" and a poor colored woman:

Aristocratic Female.—"The niggers will never be free. They are too ignorant and indolent to be of any account."

Colored Woman [not disconcerted]—

"Do you think all the prayers and cries to the good Lord won't have no effect? Haven't they been offered in faith and don't you know good Lord can do everything?"

A. F.—"But the Lord will never free the niggers nor restore the Union."

C. W.—"Whi, bress you honey, don't you see the good Lord has two great keys in his hand, what holes do Union together?"

A. F.—"No, I never saw the Lord's keys."

C. W.—"Well, you see, honey, do Lord has two great keys in his hand; one is do Darkeys with that he has unlocked the Union, so all do niggers, as you can't 'em, will come out free; do other is Darkeys, and with that the good Lord will lock the Union up again."

For PRESIDENT.—A soldier of the 20th Regiment writes to the Madison Journal.

You of the North begin to talk loudly of your favorite presidential candidates—Lincoln McClellan, Chase, Fremont, and so on—but we of the Department of the Gulf beg leave to present the name of Benjamin F. Butler, as our first choice. The writer of this is a Democrat, but individually, and—when he gets mad—collectively, would vote for Butler for the next President before any other man living. Soldiers and citizens, (not Confederates, for all we ask of them is to stand up and give us a fair fight,) of Louisiana where Butler is known, would go for him to a man. The election of Butler wouldn't be much of a "settler on Europe."

Advices from Red River announce the death of Brig. Gen. Fessenden, son of the Maine Senator, who fell at the head of his command, while gallantly leading his troops at the battle of Cane River, Louisiana. He was but 27 years old.

The GREAT composer, Meyerbeer, died recently. He was born at Berlin in 1794.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, May 10.
SENATE.—The House bill fixing the pay of officers on the Lieutenant General's Staff, was passed. It places them on a footing with the staff officer of the army corps.

General bills granting land to Michigan and Iowa, for railroad purposes, were passed.

The bill to expedite public printing, was taken up, and amended by suspending the printing of the report of officers received, and contracts made for carrying mails. The bill was then passed.

House.—The Secretary of the Treasury reported to the House resolution that a man named Garnet had been dismissed from his department for learning that he had been in the rebel service. He had been recommended by Hon. J. B. Underwood, of the Eastern District of Virginia.

Garfield asked leave to introduce a bill for the more special banishment of guerrillas.

It was objected to by Eldridge of Wisconsin, and Ross of Illinois.

The Last Sensation.

One day last week we published the advertisement of a man in want of rubbish; this advertisement made one column in our paper. It was a rather loud call for all books, thinks, newspapers and manuscripts—in short, for everything that is or can be paper. Seven cents per pound were offered for this old stuff.

That column has created a great sensation in society and out of it. It has filled the quietest households with the spirit of speculation and uproar. No greater excitement was created in Bagdad by the announcement that a certain merchant desired to take old lamps in exchange for new ones. Every old garret in town is suddenly found to be full of valuables, and our staid matrons are as eager as gold hunters in Eldorado or Wall street. All old wardrobes, closets, garrets, pantries, cupboard, drawers, trunks and pigeonholes are ransacked and purged ruthlessly, and, since the truth must be told, even the bookshelves are not spared. Yes, within the past seven days more than fifty per cent. of the bookshelves have been cleared. They have been freed of all Patent Office reports and similar tomes classed as "Pub. Doc." infinite traveles have come to untimely end, and the excellence of voluminous authors has been much in question. It has been entirely doubted whether or no Bancroft's History was worth more than seven cents a pound. And if this price continues we tremble for Appleton's Cyclopede—it is so very heavy. We have heard that an immense number of tragedies have finally found a purchaser, and that countless authors have gotten innumerable novels off their hands. Bohemia has begun to pay its board, and raiment. At the door of a certain savant, recently deceased, three hundred dollars were paid for two tons of old paper—memoranda and sermons. Perhaps, like the transaction of the Bagdad merchants, it is a plot to get hold of the projects, plans and ideas of some Intellectural genius.

OFFICERS.

S. S. DAGGETT, President; SAMES BUNNELL, Vice President; C. D. NASH, Treasurer; A. W. Kellogg, Secretary.

INSURE WITH THE PHOENIX INSURANCE COMPANY, HARTFORD.—Our mode of adjusting losses. Feeling it a special duty I owe to the Phoenix Insurance Company of Hartford, Conn., I take great pleasure in expressing my thankfulness for the promptness and liberality they have exhibited in honorably adjusting and paying my claim, for loss sustained by the total destruction of my brick store building and stock of merchandise contained therein in Harrold's N. Y., a few days since, and upon which I had an insurance in the PHOENIX.

I am to-day in receipt of the amount of my claim $9,500 sixty days before the same was due, according to the terms of the policy, which is satisfactory evidence in my mind that the PHOENIX is the Company to do business with.

SHAKESPEARE.

The following beautiful lines were read as a part of the ceremonies at the laying of the corner-stone of the Shakespearean monument, which took place recently in the city of New York.

There are you have laid away,
Since by the common river,
A bough to cheer the hearts of men
Was sent by the great All-giver.

Who has not read his honest page!
Wept with the mild-wife of Verona?
With Mercutio and Rosalind joyed?
Or sighed with gentle Desdemona?

Who has not mourned with injured Lear?
Or wailed success to mad Portia?
Who has not felt a moasted eye?
At death of gallant brave Mercutio?

Who has not revelled with Prince Hal?
Ah me, what faults have I tickled!
We've robed with Falstaff at his shirt,
And quaffed back-brewed by Hostess Quickly?

Where'er our English tongue pours
Its wealth of song, where'er it's spoken,
There 'Avon's Swan' doth whisper,
And there his charms can never be broken.

Kings, puppets, puppets of a day—
Dwell for a space in history's story;
The dust of ages yet to come,
Cannot efface our Shakespeare's glory.

And long as habiting Avon pours
Its rippling tribute to the ocean,
Long may her boughs bear her boughs,
Upon unchanged their heavenly motion,

So long shall Shakespeare's name be sung.
And boughs of the immortal bough,
His memory in all hearts kept green,
Till the last syllable of time's record.

ROCK CO., WISCONSIN LANDS FOR SALE BY AUCTION.

Will be sold by auction, on Thursday the 23d of June, Next, in the city of Janeyville, Rock county, Wisconsin, thirty-eight hundred and forty acres, some of the best agricultural lands in the State. They are situated about ten miles from Janeyville, and adjoining the village of Fosterville, with the Beloit & Milwaukee Railroad running through them. The lands are well cultivated, and have been raised on their own soil, and are composed of an equal quantity of heavy "store" timber and prairie. They were selected for their present owners for investment, twenty years ago, as the best land in the country, in fact, in the State. It is well known, is the garden of Wisconsin.

They will be sold in small parcels, and the purchase money, less twenty or twenty-five per cent, which will be deducted from the purchase price at seven per cent interest, for seven or ten years, excepting that lots which will be sold for cash.

They will also be sold at the same time and place, for a sum, not less than $1000, for each twenty-five hundred and twenty acres, or portion of land, in Marathon county, near the town of Waukesha, selected about eight years ago.

A more eligible opportunity for farmers to secure, and to make a good profit, or for the investment of capital, could not be offered.

For further particulars apply personally, or by letter to Mr. Dawson, No. 9 East 15th street, New York, or to Mr. George, No. 200 South Dearborn street, or to Mr. John Howe, on the premises of Fosterville.

SHAKESPEARE.

The following beautiful lines were read as a part of the ceremonies at the laying of the cornerstone of the Shakespearean monument, which took place recently in the city of New York.

Since by the Aconite-girded river,

    A boar to clear the heart of men

    Was sown by the great All-giver,

    Who has not read his honored page?

    With the mild-wind of Venus?

    With Nestor and Rosalind? Joy!

    Or sighted with gentle Desdemona?

    Who has not mourned with injured Lear?

    Or wished success to poor Portia?

    Who has not felt a mortification

    At death of gallant brave Mercurio?

    Who has not reviled with Prince Hal?

    All me, what fancies float up thickly?

    We're robust with Falstaff and his ilk,

    And quaffed such draughts by Hostess Quickly?

    Who has not read his honored page?

    With the mild-wind of Venus?

    With Nestor and Rosalind? Joy!

    Or sighted with gentle Desdemona?

    Who has not mourned with injured Lear?

    Or wished success to poor Portia?

    Who has not felt a mortification

    At death of gallant brave Mercurio?

    Who has not reviled with Prince Hal?

    All me, what fancies float up thickly?

    The dust of heroes to come?

    Cæsar, off to win Shakespeare's glory.

    And long at tabled, over years,

    A rippling tribute to the ocean,

    Long as the shoals in her sky.

    Keep on unchanged their heavenly motion,

    So long shall Shakespeare's name be young.

    Ame honor to him be awarded,

    His memory in all hearts kept green,

    Till the last syllable of time's recorded.

    Shakespeare's name be young.

    Ame honor to him be awarded,

    His memory in all hearts kept green,

    Till the last syllable of time's recorded.

    Shakespeare's name be young.

    Ame honor to him be awarded,

    His memory in all hearts kept green,

    Till the last syllable of time's recorded.
